Important information relating to Luxury Vehicles

Organisations with vehicles over the depreciation limit of [redacted] are required to account for the vehicle differently in their books. A Novated Lease falls into [redacted] category as the company is taking on the responsibility of the lease. To this end due to the changes in the accounting procedure for these vehicles there may be a loss of benefit to the company relating to the deductibility of the vehicle. A Luxury Depreciation Allowance may be included in the Package break up above which provides for an adjustment to the package for an amount representing the loss of benefit due to the amount non-deductible by the Employer. The decision as to whether this amount is to be deducted/included within the Novated Package is at the discretion of the Employer and therefore prior to committing to a vehicle of this nature you should confirm the policy with your Employer. (The Luxury Depreciation Limit of [redacted] is based on the total Purchase Price of the vehicle less claimable [redacted]
